Western Kenya

Lake Victoria is one of the African Great Lakes. The lake was named after Queen Victoria of the United Kingdom, by John Hanning Speke, the first European to discover this lake.

With a surface area of 68,800 square kilometres (26,600 sq mi), Lake Victoria is Africa’s largest lake by area, and it is the largest tropical lake in the world. Lake Victoria is the world's 2nd largest freshwater lake by surface area; only Lake Superior in North America is larger. In terms of its volume, Lake Victoria is the world's ninth largest continental lake, and it contains about 2,750 cubic kilometers (2.2 billion acre-feet) of water.

Kisumu Impala Sanctuary

The Sanctuary is located about 3km from Kisumu city. It was gazetted in 1992 and later branded in March 2010 as ‘a lakeshore walk with impalas’. It is a home to both free ranging and captive animals as well as a home to over 115 species of birds, a variety of trees, grass & herbs amongst others.

Kit Mikayi

The Kakamega Forest National Reserve is situated in the Lake Victoria basin, about 50km north of Kisumu city. Being the only remnant in Kenya of the unique Guineo-Congolian forest ecosystem, the park offers unique wild-life and scenic beauty. For bird and butterfly watchers, this is the place to visit.

The forest is home to over 400 species of butterflies, about 300 bird species and 27 species of snakes. It is also home to Potto (the world's slowest mammal on earth).

Kit-Mikayi, also spelled Kit Mikayi, Kit Mikayi, and Kit Mikayi, is a large rock formation on the Kisumu-Bondo road in western Kenya about 29 kilometers west of Kisumu. Kit-Mikayi means “Stones of the first wife” or “First Wife Rocks” in Dholuo, the Luo language. Kit-Mikayi is a rock formation 70 meter high
